Though the pandemic is still very much a reality, we are thrilled to continue supporting artists, and to offer a window into the creative process of our nationally recognized HERÉ Artist Residency Program (HARP). The 2022 program features workshop presentations at various stages of development that blur the boundaries between theatre, music, dance, new media, and visual art. Whether you can join us physically – masked, distanced, and partially outdoors – or virtually from the comfort of your own home, we look forward to welcoming you to this year’s HERÉ RAW / Resident Artist Works!
LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Manhattan has always been a gathering and trading place for many Indigenous peoples. HERE pays respect to all of their ancestors past, present, and future. We acknowledge that this theater, and this work, is situated on the island of Manhahtaan (Mannahatta) traditional lands of the Lenape, the Manahatin, the Canarsie, the Shinnecock, the Haudenosaunee and the Munsee. We respect that many Indigenous peoples continue to live and work on this island and acknowledge their ongoing contributions to this land. We offer our care, gratitude and welcome.

Inspired by the words of Adrienne Wong: HERE also acknowledges the legacy of colonization embedded within the technology, structures, and ways of thinking we use every day. This production is using equipment and high-speed internet, not available in many Indigenous communities. Even the technologies that are central to much of the art we make leave significant carbon footprints, contributing to changing climates that disproportionately affect Indigenous people worldwide. We invite you to join us in acknowledging all this, as well as our shared responsibility to make good of this time and for each of us to consider our roles in reconciliation, decolonization, and ally-ship.
ABOUT THE SHOW

A MEAL

A work-in-progress presentation for HERE RAW / Resident Artist Works

In an intimate setting, a small group of attendees share in a communal journey traced by food. Part art installation, part ritual, part laboratory, part meal, and part conversation, this poem for the senses creates space for friends and strangers to eat together, while reflecting on our post-industrial relationship with food. With the state of divisiveness and partisanship that’s rampant in the U.S. at the moment, A Meal opens a space to create new relationships while questioning through art the structures and environmental challenges of food in the anthropocene.

This year’s encounter will take place on HERE’s Mainstage and is dedicated to NYC street vendors. The performances will catalyze two different conversations. On 7/22, we will talk about “Food Autonomy: Reflections on Production, Distribution, Preparation, Consumption, and Power.” On 7/23, we will discuss “Policy and NYC Street Food Vendors: Criminalization of Labor of Historically Excluded Workers.”

The team for this year’s work-in-progress includes: LEIMAY Artistic Co Directors Ximena Garnica & Shige Moriya, LEIMAY Ensemble members and guests: Masanori Asahara*, Nixon Beltran, Krystel Copper*, Paige Cowen, Jeremy Goren, Melani DeGuzman, Thea Little, Brandon Perdomo, Drew Sensue-Weinstein, Yolanda Tianyi-Shao, Jeremy Slater, and Community Members and Activists Mohamed Attia (Street Vendor Project), Kelebohile Nkhereanye, Julie Torres Moskovitz, Jason Trachtenburg (4th Street Food Co-op), and others to be announced.

SPECIAL THANKS FROM SHIGE AND XIMENA

Thank you to HERE, their staff and board for all the support they have given us throughout the years. Thanks to all our collaborators for their continued curiosity, passion and actions, and also to our families and dear ones for supporting us all in this journey of playing, questioning and transforming.

LEIMAY FUNDING

LEIMAY work and programs are supported, in part, by the New York State Council on the Arts, the New York City Department of Cultural Affairs in partnership with the City Council, Mertz Gilmore Foundation, and many generous contributions from individual donors.
LEIMAY ENSEMBLE BIOS

XIMENA GARNICA AND SHIGE MORIYA | DIRECTORS, CHOREOGRAPHERS, AND DESIGNERS

are a Colombian and Japanese multidisciplinary artist duo. Their collaborative works manifest as live installations, performances, and sculptures that are presented in theaters, museums, galleries, and public spaces. Alongside their performative work, Ximena and Shige also invest their energy in critical research, printed and digital publications, and community projects. Shige and Ximena are the co-founders and artistic directors of LEIMAY and the LEIMAY Ensemble. The word LEIMAY is a Japanese term symbolizing the changing moment between darkness and the light of dawn, or the transition from one era to the other. Ximena and Shige work out of their home studio CAVE, which is located in Williamsburg, Brooklyn. Their work has been presented at a number of art spaces including: BAM, The New Museum, The Brooklyn Museum, The Watermill Center, HERE, Japan Society, and The Asian Museum of San Francisco. In 2018, they were nominated for the USA Artists Fellowship and the Herb Alpert Award. They have been part of the Bessie Schonberg Individual Choreographers Residency at the Yard, the Watermill Center Residency Program, and the HERE Artist Residency Program. Ximena was a recipient of the Van Lier Fellowship for extraordinary stage directors, and she was recently a Distinguished Visiting Professor at the University of California Riverside. Her article “LEIMAY, CAVE, and the New York Butoh Festival” was recently published in The Routledge Companion to Butoh Performance. Their work is rooted in questions of being, perception, interdependency, and coexistence. They look to expose the multiplicity of spatial and temporal intervals that exist within the body, between materials and environments. They are curious about what emerges when the stability of habits, affirmation of binaries, social norm expectations, and the crystallization of identity dissolve and expose the potentialities of being.

is a group of national and international dancers and performers who create body-centered works around the principle of LUDUS, a practice that explores methods to physically condition the body of the performers and develop a sensitivity to the “in-between space.” Ensemble members are selected through a workshop audition process. Current core Ensemble members include Masanori Asahara, Krystel Copper, Mario Galeano, and Andrea Jones. Founded in 2012 by Ximena Garnica and Shige Moriya, the group took form through the creation of the Becoming Series pentalogy, of which three parts have been created: Becoming Corpus, borders, and Frantic Beauty (Brooklyn Academy of Music, 2013-2017). The group holds a regular practice at their studio in Brooklyn where they engage in the creation of new work in addition to teaching, training, research, and distillation of years of direct transmission of embodied knowledge by Japanese Butoh pioneers, Noguchi Taiso practitioners, and Experimental Theater innovators. MASANORI ASAHARA* | PERFORMER is a Japanese born dancer, choreographer, certified yoga teacher, and improvisation artist based in Brooklyn, New York. Masanori has been a core member of the LEIMAY Ensemble since 2010. He has toured, taught, and performed with the ensemble for over a decade participating in Becoming Series at BAM Fisher [Becoming Corpus (2013), borders (2015), Frantic Beauty (2016)], Alius Bodies (2018), Bodies on the Brink, Unplugged, Thresholds, among other works. He is currently finishing Dharma Yoga teaching training, and working on developing new curriculums for LEIMAY LUDUS. He has worked for choreographers Kota Yamazaki, Isabel Gotzkowsky, and Nathan Trice, and has collaborated with visual artists, installation artists, musicians, filmmakers and multimedia artists in a variety of projects.

KRYSTEL COPPER* | PERFORMER
joined LEIMAY as a member of the performance and research ensemble in 2016 for the premiere of Frantic Beauty at BAM. She is a second-generation immigrant artist born to parents from Argentina and Portugal. Krystel holds a B.A. in Dance from the University of Maryland. She has performed with Amanda+James, Gesel Mason Performance Projects, B3W, Anahata Dance, CircuitDebris, Caenis at Pace, Estado Flotante, and Not for ReTALE, as well as presented her own work at DNA (2012), and ECHT Vision (2019) in collaboration with Ron Copper. Krystel has been contributing to the development of LEIMAY LUDUS and is currently training to be a LUDUS teaching artist.

BRANDON PERDOMO | PERFORMER AND STORYTELLING FACILITATOR has been a guest performer in recent LEIMAY projects including A Meal (in-progress) and Correspondences. He also works as Admin Associate at LEIMAY managing some of its programs and setting the foundation of the archive project of LEIMAY’s history. Brandon is an interdisciplinary artist from New York, fascinated with self-reflection and alterity, which are the engines of his performances and images. Interested in contemporary politics and minorities, as well as in the intricate manners in which the body is perceived in the public sphere, he channels his aspirations towards social activism, mirroring his non-profit work in the NGO communities and time spent as an anti-bias educator, which seem to have reemerged into his more recent creative work – since behind his coherent practice lies a healthy dose of thought and research, as well as the ambition to tackle some serious philosophical questions about human existence and, as he says, “I share my world with others, and I need worlds to be shared with me.” Brandon received his MA in Oral History at Columbia University.

IRENA ROMENDIK | PERFORMER AND COSTUME DESIGN
first joined the LEIMAY ecosystem as an audience member and as a participant in numerous LUDUS classes. She has co-designed and fabricated costumes for LEIMAY’s projects for the past nine years. Irena has also performed in LEIMAY projects including: A Meal (In-Progress), In Illo Tempore Vinnegets (2015,2016,2017), and Dimple (2011). She has been a LEIMAY Fellow (2016-2017) with her own work as a visual artist collaborating with movement-based performers. Irena arrived from Ukraine two decades ago and currently resides in Brooklyn, New York. She holds degrees from Shevchenko Art School in Kiev, Pratt Institute, and Tisch School of the Arts, NYU. Irena values the process of artistic creation over production. Her multidimensional interests have produced projects that cross disciplines, and sometimes are difficult to categorize. To learn more about her work please visit http://www.aquarelle.us

JEREMY D. SLATER | COMPOSITION AND SOUND DESIGN FOR A MEAL PERFORMANCE
has worked with LEIMAY in several projects since 2009, creating original soundscapes for performances and installation works including: Floating Point Waves (2012), The Point (2013), In illo Tempore Vinnegets (2014, 2015,2016,2017) among others. He is an intermedia artist working in the areas of sound, video, computer art, performance, installation, and words. Born in Reading, England and a graduate of both SUNY College at Buffalo and School of Visual Arts with an MFA in Computer Art. Performances include sound and live performed video that is ambient and sometimes interactive/reactive. Video work includes single and multiple channel videos for screening and installations with sound and ephemeral sculpture. He was one of the 1999 recipients of the Computer Art Fellowship from New York Foundation of the Arts (NYFA) and has attended the Experimental Television Residency, and was artist in residence at Seoul Art Space_Geumcheon in Seoul, South Korea. www.jeremyslater.net

DREW WEINSTEIN | COMPOSITION AND SOUND DESIGN FOR A MEAL PERFORMANCE
is a New York based theatre and sound artist. He has created original works which have been presented at venues including HERE Arts Center, JACK, The Brick, The Hive, Jersey City Theatre Center, and LEIMAY’s SOAK. Drew has also directed works at The New Ohio Theatre, The Wild Project, Vital Joint, The Shakespeare Theatre of New Jersey, and Dixon Place among others. As a designer, Drew’s work has recently been heard around NYC and the east coast at venues including Under the Radar at the Public Theatre, Abrons Arts Center, HERE, Signature Theatre Center, BRIC, the Shakespeare Theatre of New Jersey, Corkscrew Theatre Festival, Triskelion Arts, Long Island University, Anacostia Arts Center (DC), Plays and Players (Philadelphia), and the Performing Garage.

GUEST ARTISTS BIOS

is a Colombian, born movement-based performer, gardener, passionate cook and becoming a book-object maker, moved to the U.S. 35 years ago after growing up in several countries throughout South America. His early education, using yoga, Montessori and Piaget educational methods, inspired him to study dance and choreography composition at the Martha Graham School for Contemporary Dance in New York City. After graduating from its professional program in 1995, he choreographed and presented his own work locally and internationally. He also participated and collaborated in other choreographers’ and artists’ works. In 2002, Nixon was invited to take part in Robert Wilson’s Watermill Center International Summer Program in the hamlet of Water Mill, NY. He had the opportunity to learn and work artistically in different staging, design, exhibition projects and gardening under the direction of Mr. Wilson and his core team of collaborators. The Watermill Center officially opened to the public as a center for the arts and humanities in 2006. Nixon was offered the position of Center Manager to continue his work establishing the gardens and grounds, as well as help launch its artists-in-residency, public and educational outreach programming. He held this position until February 2021. After leaving the Watermill Center, Nixon renewed his focus on artistic endeavors, developing his skills in the making of book-objects (aka, one-of-a-kind bookworks).

PAIGE COWEN
is a gender-fluid, Brooklyn based movement & research artist. They began training in Oklahoma under the direction of Kristin McQuaid, Joshua Stayton and José Antonio Checa. Paige continued their training in New York at Marymount Manhattan College, where they graduated with a degree in Dance Studies and a minor in Environmental Studies. Paige has performed works by Celia Rowlson-Hall, Michael Thomas, Nancy Lushington and Andrea Markus. In addition to their studies at Marymount, Paige has expanded their movement practice under the instruction of artists such as Andrea Miller, Jennifer Monson, Alexandra Beller and Ximena Garnica, to name a few. Most recently, Paige has had the pleasure of creating with Arsenal Movement dance project, The Lowcoco, Accent Dance NYC and the LEIMAY Ensemble. They are interested in collaborations that combine unexpected techniques, mediums and practices to create thought provoking and change-making work. Paige believes in the power of the body as a tool for research that can build a bridge between the efforts of creatives, policy makers, activists and scientists to shape a more sustainable and equitable world. Their choreography has been presented at film festivals, virtual shows and on the stage through presenters such as The Tank, The Craft, and 7Midnights Physical Research.

JEREMY GOREN
is a theatre artist, primarily in devised works, with a focus on experimental, socially focused performances and hybrid events. Formerly a longtime collaborator with Terra Incognita Theater and the U.S.-based projects of The Workcenter of Jerzy Grotowski and Thomas Richards, Jeremy works as lead artist in Wistaria Project and a Co-Artistic Director of AnomalousCo -- as well as with other artists and organizations. He’s currently in development of Saviana Stanescu’s Zebra 2.0, Target Margin’s Here & Now oral-storytelling project in Sunset Park, and further iterations of AnomalousCo’s (beyond) Doomsday Scrolling, a performance event to raise funds and awareness for refugees from Ukraine and around the world. He has a background in journalism and youth development and earned a MFA in Performance and Interactive Media Arts from Brooklyn College. www.jeremygoren.com

is a Filipinx multi-hyphenate performer, actress, and integrative specialist committed to the life-long process of unlearning and unteaching oppressive, othering, and superficial ways of moving. Melani graduated from Loyola Marymount studying dance and sociology. She has trained in a variety of movement forms to enrich her cultural studies of various backgrounds. Melani integrates her eclectic practices of mysticism, somatic, healing work into collaborative partnerships creating site-specific solo works, dance films, and movement offerings. She is now residing in Brooklyn NY, and loves to surf, pole dance, cook, and host sound healing baths.

THEA LITTLE
is a Brooklyn-based interdisciplinary artist whose work draws upon performance art, dance, and experimental opera. She has composed more than 50 scores presented in the U.S. and abroad. Thea attended the School of American Ballet and holds MFA and BA degrees in Dance respectively from Hollins University and Columbia University. Thea has performed in the U.S. and Europe with New York City Ballet, The Whitney Museum, The Traveling Trolley in Kingston and WUK in Vienna. Thea has worked with Neta Pulvermacher, Todd Williams, Moving Theater, Panoply Lab, Anais Maviel, Feminist Art Group (FAG), and Shen Wei Dance Arts. She recently presented a sold-out evening-length performance Honest Process at National Sawdust as part of her residency in 2018-2019 and two sold-out performances of Extraordinarily Inverse at the Center for Performance Research in 2018.

YOLANDA TIANYI-SHAO
Yolanda Tianyi Shao is a Chinese creator and choreographer. She works interdisciplinary with animators, composers, theater directors, actors, film makers, sound designers and photographers. Yolanda has her own specific standpoint of art making. With her background of years of dance training, she lost her interest in pursuing simply beautiful and identified dance movement, her work more deals with the extremes of human communication, physical theatrical performances where a literal dialogue occurs through movement and she also moved her steps into site-specific arts in recent years. She is interested in making work in the context of exploring the possibilities of the relationship between human and nature and deals with issues of the environment. In 2017 she created a group dance work called SALE, it’s about the material desires expanding in people’s life, people running for it, even tearing at each other. Some people are crazy about it, but behind the satisfaction is a boundless emptiness, while some people have the heart to withdraw, but they are more than enough. Behind the phenomenon, desire silently watches the picture of constant collapse and reconstruction, as well as the social landscape of ephemeral bliss. And then she made an experimental community version of this work in the summer of 2018 with an artist from Goldsmiths. In 2021, Yolanda created a project Ebb Tide in the Open House Concert at CalArts. She starts her collaboration with animators and composers in the piece Futile/Gestures in the later 2021. In the same year, she created a movement piece Breaking the Persona that was inspired by a female photographer Wanyue An’s works. It performed in the exhibition My Next Incarnation that was curated by Yiwei Lu on March 19th in Los Angeles Keystone Art Space. She holds a bachelor of Dance from Nanjing Normal University in China and is currently pursuing the Master of Fine Art in Choreography at the California Institute of the Arts.
Policy and NYC Street Food Vendors: Criminalization of Labor of Historically Excluded Workers

MOHAMED ATTIA
is the Managing Director of the Street Vendor Project at the Urban Justice Center (SVP), a 2,800+ member-strong organization that champions the rights of street vendors as small businesses to earn a living and contribute to the culture and life of New York City. Attia migrated to the US from Alexandria, Egypt, in 2008 working as a street vendor for nearly ten years selling hot dogs, halal chicken over rice, and smoothies in Times Square. He joined as a member of the Street Vendor Project (SVP) in 2012 and was an elected member leader of the organization until 2018, when he joined SVP’s staff as Managing Director. Attia championed legislation passed in 2021 by the New York City Council that expanded the number of permits available to street vendors for the first time in nearly 40 years. He has been profiled for his advocacy work on behalf of the street vendor community by The New York Times, Crains New York, and was recognized on City & State Community Engagement Power 50 List. Through direct legal representation, small business development training, grassroots organizing, leadership development, and strategic legislative advocacy, the Street Vendor Project builds power and community among vendors. Learn more about SVP at http://streetvendor.org/

KELEBOHILE NKHEREANYE (KELE) is a food street vendor, food justice activist, community chef and leader in East New York. Kele is an immigrant from Lesotho, Southern Africa, where she learned the values of street vendors as opportunities toward economic empowerment. Currently, Kele works as a Station Agent for NYCTA. She is a committed member of SVP supporting efforts advocating for street vendors to remind New Yorkers to think of vendors as small business owners who need to work to support their families. She graduated from MCNY with MPA, Hunter College with Sociology and Women’s Studies.

JULIE TORRES MOSKOVITZ, AIA is an architect and founder of Fete Nature Architecture, PLLC (FNA) based in NYC. She began working with SVP in 2015 to help envision an exemplary commissary for the street vendor community. Her firm FNA is a vital, collaborative architecture firm whose process is founded in research and investigation of new ways to inhabit the urban fabric. Julie is the author of The Greenest Home on sustainability and she is the architect of the first certified Passive House project in NYC. She believes that life happens in the streets and reflects the city’s spirit whether through street vendors, block parties, impromptu run-ins, or protest for environmental and social justice.
JESSICA RAMOS
represents New York’s 13th District in the State Senate, which includes the Queens neighborhoods of Corona, East Elmhurst, Jackson Heights, and parts of Astoria, Elmhurst, and Woodside. Ramos chairs the Senate Committee on Labor, where she’s fought to pass historic legislation to grant farm workers basic labor protections, tackle the child care crisis, and secured $2.1B to create a fund for workers who have been excluded from pandemic-related relief. Senator Ramos was born at Elmhurst Hospital to undocumented Colombian immigrants, grew up in Astoria, and now lives in Jackson Heights with her two sons.

Reflections on Production, Distribution, Preparation, Consumption, and Power

is Co-Project Director at East NY Farms! She is a CUNY Brooklyn College graduate with a Bachelor of Science in Food and Nutrition Studies. Her interests in food sustainability and how food politics and culture affect one’s access to preventative health care grew during her academic studies. She wanted to find a way to use her knowledge of food and nutrition to directly benefit her community of East New York. With ENYF, she combines her devotion to food justice in her community with her extensive knowledge in nutrition sciences to encourage food security in East New York.

JASON TRACHTENBURG is best known for his role as “The Dad” in the long running Off-Broadway and Indie-rock act The Trachtenburg Family Slideshow Players. He has appeared on “Late Night with Conan O’Brien,” MTV, VH1, and is a multiple time award winner at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe. He has received feature coverage in the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times, The Guardian, Pitchfork, N.M.E., Spin, and many more. He has given a T.E.D. talk, and his band’s debut album (Vintage Slide Collections From Seattle, Vol. 1) reached #79 in the CMJ charts. His current musical, Me and Lee - The Musical is the authorized musical adaptation of the historical auto-biography of Judyth Vary Baker: Teen Science Superstar, witness to history, and secret girlfriend of Lee Harvey Oswald in 1963. Jason is the former President of the 4th St. Food Co-op in New York City.

HERE’S BOARD OF DIRECTORS COMMUNITY
HERE’s Board of Directors is a diverse group of individuals who are artistically curious and endlessly passionate about supporting artists and artistic life in New York City. A circle made up of both artists and arts advocates, the Board is not only charged with fiscal oversight, but with ensuring that HERE continues to live its mission and values. Deeply invested in HERE’s commitment to anti-oppression and justice work, this group of individuals engage in deep conversations to steer the organization forward and contribute to a culture conducive to our goals. They support HERE’s vitality in numerous ways and are essential leaders in our City. If being a part of this important circle of our community is of interest to you or someone you know, please feel free to reach out to Producing Director Meredith Lynsey Schade at meredith@here.org.

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT:
HERE’s programming is made possible with Public Funds from: National Endowment for the Arts; New York State Council on the Arts with the support of the Office of the Governor and the New York State Legislature; New York City Department of Cultural Affairs in partnership with the City Council; the Offices of the Mayor of New York, Speaker Corey Johnson, Manhattan Borough President Gale Brewer, New York State Assembly Member Deborah J. Glick, and State Senator Brad M. Hoylman. We are extremely grateful for the support and advocacy of all of our dedicated elected officials: Senator Charles E. Schumer, Senator Kirsten R. Gillibrand, Representative Jerrold L. Nadler, Mayor Eric Adams, Manhattan Borough President Gale Brewer, Council Member Jimmy Van Bramer and the Cultural Affairs Committee of the City Council, State Assembly Member Deborah J. Glick, and State Senator Brad M. Hoylman.

HERE receives generous support from:

HERE, in partnership with Resident Playwright Taylor Mac, is a participant in the Mellon Foundation’s National Playwright Residency Program administered in partnership with HowlRound.
HERE is extremely grateful to the many generous individuals who support our programming! (includes donors as of July 11, 2022)

A NOTE ABOUT THE NEW STRUCTURE OF OUR DONOR LIST:
Community-Centric Fundraising is a fundraising practice that is grounded in equity; it calls on all non-profits to bring principles of racial and economic justice into our development strategies. As one small step towards aligning HERE with this model, we have removed giving levels from our donor list. We hope to celebrate and raise up all of our supporters no matter the size of their contribution and recognize the generosity of our community as a whole. We would like to thank the team of Community-Centric Fundraising for their leadership and their call to action; more information on CCF can be found on their website.
